The aim of Captain Courageous is to help find a cure for children who suffer a life threatening Bone Marrow Failure disease. Due to the rarity of these diseases, global research dollars are very limited. However, whilst these diseases are rare, unlocking the cause of these diseases could not only lead to a cure for these courageous children, but potentially a break through for more common blood diseases such as Leukemia. Every dollar raised goes to Australia's first National Collaborative research program and will assist in speeding up the research to accelerate the path to a cure. Your donation will make a difference.
